August 2014

The Cape May County Division of Culture & Heritage is planning an art exhibit that features the art of county veterans for November, 2014. The exhibit, open to amateur as well as professional artists, will be on display in the Thomas Beesley House on Route 9 in Cape May Court House and will be open to the public for that month.

The exhibit will include any visual arts, including paintings (oils, pastels, watercolors, etc), photography, prints, ceramics, wood turning or sculpture. We are also hoping to include written works, such as personal and/or published stories, novels, essays or poetry. There will be a reception to open the exhibit with the general public invited as well as a special reception just for veterans.

If there are any members of your post who might be interested in participating in this exhibit, please ask them to contact me for further information and a participation form. I have enclosed some of my business cards with contact information on them, as well as a flier that can be posted. We really hope that some of your members will take advantage of effort to showcase the talents of our county veterans.

Sincerely,

Pary Tell, Representative
Cape May County Division of Culture & Heritage
